architect maaSchool of Architecture in Aarhus
Born 1971Head of shldesign*Aarhus School of Architecture, Dept. of Furniture Design and Spatial Art (1996)

Lars Vejen combines his creative talents – applicable from the conceptual idea phase to the most specialized detailing – with an unfailingly clear overview and the ability to guide a complex project through its many phases. Through his many years at SHL, Lars Vejen has completed many interior and product design projects. These include projects linked to building projects: ARoS – Aarhus Art Museum, the Extension to The Royal Danish Library in Copenhagen, headquarters for Nykredit and Kromann Reumert, respectively, also in Copenhagen, civic offices in Viby for the Aarhus Municipality, KGMP Headquarters also in Aarhus, Danfoss Headquarters in the southern part of Jutland, Denmark, the new libraries of Växjö and Halmstad in Sweden. All of these solutions are well regarded, and in consequence many of them have received awards both nationally and internationally. Right now Lars Vejen is working on the interior design project for Birkerød Sports and Leisure Center in Copenhagen and on a Concept and Exhibition Design for LEGO. All interior projects were completed with Lars Vejen as design consultant responsible for all aspects of furnishings, fixtures and fit-out - from project proposal, preliminary designs/scheme design, main project through to project follow-up, often in parallel and in interaction with the project planning for the building. The remit spans standard and custom-made fixtures and fittings, signage, lighting, colour coordination, the integration of artworks, etc. Lars Vejen has given lectures all around the world, including, among others, lectures at the Danish Design Day in Munich, at the Chamber of Architects, Germany, and at Tottri University of Environmental Studies in Japan. Lars Vejen has also visited a wide range of companies and projects through out the world.
